BOERS ARE IN DUNDEE

Burghers Loot Stores of the City, but Offer No Personal Harm.

QUEEN THANKS ARMY

British Parlament is Adjourned Today, with an Address from Victoria.

DEAD IN AFRICA CAUSES HER PROFOUND SORROW.

She Hopes the Army Will Vindicate the Honor of England—It is Admitted That Reports of British Victories in Africa Were Very Much Exaggerated—Nothing Heard from Kimberley Since Monday—Late News via Victoria Enlarges Boer Victories

London, Oct. 27—[Special Cablegram to The Gazette]—An official message says that the Boers have occupied Dundee and looted the stores, but individuals were not harmed. The British wounded at Dundee are reported doing well under the care of Boer surgeons.

Boers Now Occupy Dundee.

London, Oct. 27—[Special Cablegram to The Gazette]—Gov. Hutchinson at Pietermaritzburg has sent the following telegram to colonial office: "The Boers occupied Dundee on Monday afternoon.'

Highlanders Off For South Africa.

QUEEN ADJOURNS PARLIAMENT.

Thanks Army For Its Brave Conduct in African War.

London, Oct. 27—[Special Cablegram to The Gazette]—The Queen's speech proroguing parliament today is as follows:

"I am happy to be able to release you from the duties imposed by the exegencies of the public service. I congratulate you on the brilliant qualities displayed by the brave regiments upon whom the task of repelling the invasion of my South African colonies has been laid. In doing so I cannot but express my profound sorrow that so many officers and soldiers should have fallen in the performance of their duty. I acknowledge with gratitude the liberal provision you made to pay the necessary expenses of the military operations in South Africa. I trust that the Divine blessing may rest upon your efforts and those of my gallant army to restore peace and good government to that portion of my empire and vindicate the honor of this country."

BOERS WHIPPED AT KIMBERLEY

Gen. Botha in Command of the Burgher Troops Is Killed

London, Oct. 27—[Special Cablegram to The Gazette]—Further details of fighting around Kimberley are received. The Lancashire regiment completely routed the Boers. They charged up the hill after some artillery, and dispersed the enemy.

Kimberley was in high spirits when the troops returned to the city. The news of the English successes in Natal has done much to revive the spirit of the defenders of the town.

General Botha, the Boers' commander, who was killed in the fight, was famous in South Africa. At Brenkhorstspruit in '81, when the Ninety-Fourth British Infantry was annihilated, Botha distinguished himself as a marksman and as a man of rare courage. After the battle he was surrounded in a farmhouse and called upon to surrender. He refused, and barricading himself, opened fire. The house was finally taken by storm, and Botha captured, bleeding from five wounds.

It is assumed that the fight in which Colonel Plumer's troops acquitted themselves so well in Rhodesia indicates that the Rhodesian troops are trying to make their way to the relief of Mafeking.

UNRELIABLE BRITISH REPORTS

It Is Admitted That British Have Had Worst of It In Africa

London, Oct. 27—It is now admitted on all sides that reports of British victories were exaggerated. Yule's force after the battle of Dundee was in such a perilous situation that a determined attack by the Boers would have resulted in its annihilation. General White's engagement at Rietfontein sounds much like a defeat for the imperial troops, as the commander's report admits that the enemy was not dislodged when the British retired to Ladysmith.

Nothing has been heard from Kimberley since Monday last, but it is understood that reinforcements will be sent to the besieged garrison's aid without further delay.

The British forces in Rhodesia oppear to be holding their own. The Boer attacks there, however, were of little importance, only small bodies of troops being engaged.

Belated dispatches from Boer sources, coming by way of Pretoria and Lourenzo Marquez, are beginning to come in. These tell of successes by the republic's armies and belittle the victories claimed by the British.

LARGE LEAF DEALS BOOMS BUSINESS

EASTERN DEALERS NOW AFTER THE TOBACCO.

Transactions That Have Been Brought About by Janesville Dealers Sets Large Buyers to Thinking—Soverhill & Porter Dispose of Nine Hundred Cases—Other Deals.

The return of casing weather has given an opportunity for the examination of the hanging tobacco and considerable riding is being done in the growing sections, more probably with the intent of the buyers to acquaint themselves with the character of the crop than with a view of making purchases at present, says the Edgerton Reporter. Yet we are informed some trading is being done, especially in the hail district which has been quite generally covered this week by buyers and several hundred acres lifted at from 3 to 5c. It is not unlikely however that a quiet picking up of the better grades will ensue as soon as the crop is in shape to come down.

Old goods of Wisconsin growth are receiving a good deal of attention in the eastern markets at present, and home dealers are encouraged at the prospect. The big deal of the week is the purchase by H. W. Child of 2,500 cases of '98 from Janesville packers, consisting of 1,400 cases from S. B. Heddles and 900 cases of Soverhill & Porter, and 200 cases of other dealers.

The continuation of warm weather has been of wonderful help in curing out the late harvested leaf, which seems likely now to escape the dangers of fat stems. Some of the early shedded is in condition for stripping now.

British Make a Brilliant Sortie.

London, Oct. 27—A dispatch to the Central News from Cape Town, dated Thursday, 9 p. m., says that the British at Kimberley have made a brilliant sortie, routing 700 Boers.

The fighting lasted four hours, Two guns were captured. The Lancanshire regiment carried a kopje at the point of the bayonet.

The Boer commandant was killed.

Boers Will Fight to Death.

Brussels, Oct. 27—In an interview today, Dr. Leyde, the Transvaal agent, said the Boers would fight till the last man was killed. They prefer to die rather than come under the sway of the British.

PLANS FOR A NEW SOUTHWESTERN ROAD

THE MILWAUKEE, PEORIA & ST. LOUIS SCHEME REVIVED.

Bishop Horn Denies Wisconsin Germans Are "Anti-Imperialists"—Women's Clubs To Meet at Racine Next Year—Board of Missions To Raise $80,000 Next Year.

Milwaukee, Oct. 27—The controversy over the admission of new railroads to the city has been the means of unearthing schemes of all kinds. Among other things the talk has resurrected the old Milwaukee, Peoria and St. Louis railroad, which first came to light many years ago, and on which $800,000 was expended in grading and the right of way.

It is now stated that the grading of the line is done from Milwaukee to Elkhorn. The line strikes Hale's Corners, East Troy, Elkhorn, the county seat of Walworth county and Geneva Lake. The road now asks for a right to come into the city, and make the same proposition that has been made by other roads, namely to build a belt line about the city and permit other roads to use its terminals.

The Milwaukee Traffic and Terminal Company, the belt line scheme, and the new electric line from Geneva Lake to Milwaukee, are also competing with the Milwaukee and Southwestern for favors from Milwaukee citizens.

The situation looks bright for an increase in the railroad facilities of the city, though the fight may become so bitter that the different projects will kill each other.

IT IS DENIED BY BISHOP HORN.

Wisconsin Germans Not in Favor of Withdrawing Troops From Philippines

Milwaukee, Oct. 27.—Bishop William Horn of the German Evangelical Association says the sentiments of the German-Americans in this country so far as he knows, favor the suppression of the war in the Philippines before taking up any other question in regard to them.

"I think the insurrection should by all means be put down before negotiations of any other kind are begun, I do not favor a permanent annexation of the islands unless the people are willing yet I believe they should be annexed if the people are willing. But in any event the insurrection should first be stopped and the people protected as one would protect a child until they are ready for self government. That I believe to be the sentiment of the German-Americans in this country so far as I know. I do not think many German-Americans favor withdrawing the troops from the islands at once."

FIX UPON RACINE NEXT YEAR

Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs Adjourns at Eau Claire

Eau Claire, Wis., Oct. 27—The next time the Wisconsin State Federation of Women's Clubs meets it will be the first week in November, 1900, at Racine, and it will stay in session three days instead of two as previously. The experience of the convention which came to a close last night has demonstrated that a longer time is necessary for the mere transaction of business with the intervening periods of intellectual and social diversion, to say nothing of the excitement of an election such is to come off next year and of which rumors even now are heard connecting with the nomination for the presidency the names of such well known club women as Mrs. Thomas H. Brown of Milwaukee, Mrs. E. K. Galloway of Eau Claire, and Mrs. H. M. Youmans of Waukesha.

Whole State Tax is $150,000 More This Year Than It Will Be Next Year—Southern Counties Show the Largest Decrease—Sec Froelich's Report.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 27.—Secretary of State Froehlich has made public the state tax roll for 1899 and 1900. These taxes are levied the year before they are dated. That is, the tax for 1899 was levied last fall, and was collected last January, and the tax for 1900 is levied this fall by the state board of assessment and will be collected next January.

The tax for this year is $152,000 more than it will be next year.

The tax this year contains an assessment for the general fund purposes, but that for 1900 will contain no tax for that purpose, and will be confined solely to a levy for educational purposes and to pay the interest on certificates of indebtedness. These taxes will be as follows: State school taxes, $625,000; university tax, $268,000; normal school tax, $190,000; high school tax, $100,000; interest on certificates of indebtedness, $157,570.

The Rock county reduction for 1900 from that of 1899 is $9,282.89. The southern counties of the state fare better than most of those in the central and northern parts which have an increase.

WHAT CLERK F. P. STARR SAID

Rockford Paper Was Not Stow in Locating the Happy Couple.

The Rockford Register-Gazette, of last evening, prints the following:

By the early Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul train from the north two passengers arrived from Janesville, Wis. They were Frank P. Starr and Miss Naomi Barriage. They took a carriage and were driven to the court house. Mr. Starr got out, and hunting up County Clerk Norton's office, asked for a marriage license.

"I am in this line of business myself," said Mr. Starr with a smile.

"How's that?" inquired Mr. Norton.

"Oh, I issue a number of these every day," returned the visitor.

"You must be a county clerk then," replied Mr. Norton.

"That's what I am. You see up in Wisconsin we have a new law and when it came my turn I did not want to take any chances so I came down to Rockford."

Mr. Starr stated that he was county clerk of Rock county, Wisconsin and that he thought he had a right like everybody else to get married. He asked the address os a Congregational minister and County Clerk Norton directed Mr. Starr to the residence of Rev. Wesley Haskell. The Wisconsin couple went away and in a short time drove away from the North Church street house husband and wife.

BANK DEPOSITORS ARE NOW UNEASY

JANESVILLE ATTORNEYS INTERESTED.

Citizens of Edgerton Claim That It Now Looks as Though the Courts and the Lawyers Wanted All—It's the Same Old Story Over Again.

Two years has now passed since the Bank of Edgerton failed and the final winding up of its affairs appears to be as far away as when the doors were first closed. The main issue of the litigation that was started has not yet been touched by the courts so not a dollar has so far been turned into the assets of the bank by these suits. The lawyers who promised such speedy relief to the depositors when urging them to engage in litigation have so far proven unable to fulfill their agreements.

The delay of the courts are annoying to every one, but to waiting depositors who are anxious to know what there is left for them out of the wreck, it is doubly so at this time. Some even begin to doubt if any further dividends will ever reach them after the expenses are cleared away.

Three local legal firms have appeared in the courts in the bank case as representatives of depositors.

SENATOR MASON MAY RESIGN.

Will Quit if Republicans Favor "Criminal Aggression."

Chicago, Oct. 27.—William E. Mason, junior United States senator from Illinois, declared yesterday that he would resign his toga if the republican national convention in 1900 did not declare against "criminal aggression" in the Philippines. Mr. Mason even went so far as to say he would resign if the convention favored offering the Filipinos "canned freedom," as he thought it might do. There must be no evasion on the vital issue of pure and unadulterated freedom, or the senator will step down and out.

Then Mr. Mason proposes to stand for a re-election, to see whether the Illinois general assembly sides with him or with the policy of the McKinley administration. This declaration from the senator recalls the example set several years ago by Senators Roscoe Conkling and Thomas C. Platt in New York. When they tried for a vindication in re-election they failed to secure it.

"I have talked the matter over with a few intimate friends," said Senator Mason. "I will not talk for publication on the policy of our administration in the Philippines until after congress convenes and the question comes before that body. I am opposed to criminal aggression, but not to expansion. If it develops that I am not in touch with the people who made me their senator, there would be only one thing for me to do—resign, and give the party a chance to select another for the last two years of my term."

CZAR TO MEET THE KAISER.

Rulers of Two Great European Powers to Confer.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 27.—The semi-official announcement is published that Russia has no finger in the South African pie. There is no truth in the reports that Russia is to take advantage of Great Britain's difficulties to profit in Asia. It is declared that the government maintains strict neutrality, even forbidding the formation of a regiment of Russian volunteers to aid the Boers.

Paris, Oct. 27.—A dispatch to the Journal from Toulon says there is talk there of sending to the southwest coast of Africa a naval division, consisting of three second-class protected cruisers, commanded by Admiral Bienaime.

London, Oct. 27.—Paris advices to Lonuon papers insist that important action by the European powers is pending. The presence of Count Mouravieff in Paris, the summoning of Von Bulow by the emperor of Germany, the report of the latter's decision to postpone his visit to England, the alleged co-operation of the French and Russian fleets, are cited as a combination of circumstances which, despite all protests to the contrary, is deserving of serious regard.

POTATOE AND SEED STORAGE AT CLINTON

MAMMOTH WAREHOUSE ERECTED BY MR. L. L. OLDS.

Cellar Has a Capacity of 15,000 Bushels of Potatoes—A Large and Capacious Building—Brief News Notes Gathered During the Week from the Rock County Village.

Clinton, Wis., Oct. 27—On the south side of West Front street, there is now nearly completed a structure which will undoubtedly stand for many years as a monument to the personal industry of one man, L. L. Olds. The warehouse he is erecting is mammoth in size, being 48 feet in width, 96 feet long and 40 feet high. The four floors cover a space equal to almost one-half of an acre. The basement inclosed within the foundation walls is 7 feet high in the clear, floored with 5 inches of solid concrete, and the surface smoothed with cement. This space is conveniently partitioned off into bins, with an alley lengthwise in the center.

The cellar described has a capacity of 15,000 bushels of potatoes; 2,000 bushels are already in the bins. Mr. Olds' crop this year aggregates 5,000 bushels. He will have 10,000 bushels stored in this cellar before cold weather sets in.

The first floor of the warehouse above the basement is used for packing and shipping purposes. In the northeast corner is fitted up a neat and roomy office, containing an elegant set of Fairbanks scales attached to the weighing platform and side. Another set of large floor scales have been placed for use in the packing room. The third floor is used for storing garden seeds, seed corn, and grains. Mr. Olds raises some of these grains, but the garden seeds are mainly grown for him by specialists.

Mr. Olds grows about twelve leading varieties of potatoes, but is constantly experimenting with and testing many of the new and fancy varieties of potatoes, as well as some garden seeds.

The fourth floor is devoted to the storing of empty barrels, boxes and crates. An elevator, costing $125 runs from the basement to the top floor. No artificial heat will be needed except in the office and a packing room for small seeds at the east end. The cost of the warehouse when fully completed will be between $5,000 and $6,000.

Gray Hairs Can be Deferred

Premature gray hairs usually are the effects of carelessness. If the scalp is kept free of dandruff and properly nourished and strengthened, gray hairs would be unusual before the age of forty or forty-five. There is no remedy in existence that will restore color to gray hairs; but the

Seven Sutherland Sisters'

Hair Grower and Scalp Cleaner, if applied according to directions contained in each package, will positively defer gray hairs until nature compels their appearance. There are today thousands of American men and women who have revived the dying energies of their hair through the faithful use of these simple and natural remedies.

MACCABEES IN A MASQUERADE

Tenters Held Their First Ball at Armory Hall Last Night.

The Maccabees had a ball last night at the armory hall—a masquerade ball—and as usual with the "tenters" the affair was a pronounced success. The hall was crowded with people supposed to be incog., and they had a time generally that will linger long and pleasantly in the minds of those present. There was no attempt at elegant costuming. Any old thing served the turn. The boys and girls aware of the "at home" feature of these Maccabee occasions came for the fun there was in it and a rip or tear in the joyous melee mattered little. It was certainly a very agreeable affair and the numerons spectators in attendance enjoyed it fully as much as the happy and lively masqueraders.

Those in charge of the dance were William Eller, Guy Olin and Harry Swift, while Peter Dulin, J. P. McKeigue, Harry Swift, J. J. Dulin, Charles Strickler and Andrew Gibson have reason to feel proud of their success.

CUBANS BECOMING RESTIVE.

Havana Paper Denounces the Military Governorship.

FEAR FOR THEIR LIBERTY.

Americans Are Accused of the Wish to Hold the Island—Reports of Army Officers Declared to Be Unfair and Craftily Worded.

Havana, Oct. 27.—The Tribuna, edited by Mr. Aleuan, formerly identified with the Cuban revolutionary movement, says:

"Cuba is now in the midst of anarchy, which is aided and abetted by the government of that republic whose president pretends, in the name of liberty, to spread the military supremacy of the United States all over the world. This plan, proposed by the business men of America, is now being carried out by Mr. McKinley.

"Cubans are not such fools as to believe that the reports sent to Washington by the military governors do not contain more than appears in the American newspapers.

"The reports sent to Washington are craftily worded. They show how false and double-minded are the intervening authorities who govern Cuba at the pleasure of the military commanders. They have even informed Washington that our newly formed political parties are not worthy of the name, and that the men who direct them have no prestige, but have undertaken to form parties without programmes."

A prominent member of the league the Cuban national league and the Cuban national party was held to discuss a programme for the future. The organizing committee of the Cuban national party having dissolved its functions have been taken over by the municipal council of the league and the national party in Havana, which will exercise these until a general assembly, representing the whole island, shall have been chosen.

Thus far the league has not made a separate movement, although it is well known that its members were greatly dissatisfied at the failure of the recent joint meeting of delegates to select a single prominent member of the league for membership on the joint committee of delegates.

A prominent member of the league said that at least half the delegates would protest against the proceedings, asserting that the powers of the delegates on this occasion extend only to the election of members of the provincial council and not to the assumption of control, a matter that should abide the election of the general assembly for the island. It is also believed that the existing joint committee of delegates will resign and that a fresh election will be held.

SON CUT OFF BY VANDERBILT.

Will of Railway Magnate Leaves Bulk of Fortune to Alfred.

New York, Oct. 27.—Synopsis of the will of Cornelius Vanderbilt, who died on the morning of Sept. 12, was made public last night by Chauncey M. Depew, who is one of the executors under the will.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., the oldest living son, was cut off by his father with $500,000 outright and a trust fund of $1,000,000. It was this son whose marriage to Miss Wilson was bitterly opposed by his father.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, his younger brother, is made the head of the house, being given $7,500,000 and the residuary estate.

The residuary estate, according to Chauncey M. Depew's estimate of the value of the entire estate (at least $70,000,000) will amount to $34,500,000, so that Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt gets at least $42,000,000 under the will.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., however, will not have to get along on what his father left him. By agreement his brother, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, makes him a present outright of $6,000,000 from the residuary estate. Mr. Depew declares that Alfred makes this gift to Cornelius purely as a matter of brotherly affection and to maintain harmony in the famiy. The fact, however, is generally conceded that it was only by such a gift a contest could be avoided.

Sulu Treaty Kept Secret.

Washington, Oct. 27.—War department officials refuse to make public any of the provisions of the arrangement made by Gen. Bates with the sultan of Sulu, the southernmost group, but state that its main features have been touched upon in the cabled press reports from Manila. The arrangement is regarded as a purely military one, fully within the powers of the American commanding officer to draw up, and so it will not be submitted to the senate as a treaty, but will be merely transmitted as a matter of information.

Engine Strikes Street Car.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 27.—Shortly before midnight Thursday, as a Rapid railway line car, Detroit-bound from Mount Clemens, was crossing Beaufait street, it was run into by a freight train. FOURTEEN DIE IN FLAMES.

Alabama Forest Fire Kills Two Families from Iowa.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 27.—Fourteen people residing near Faires, Baldwin county, Ala., were burned to death last Tuesday in their cabin homes. The news reached here last night.

The people lost were the families of Samuel Smithson and Harry Goodlow, recently emigrated to Baldwin county from Iowa. There were eight in the Smithson family and six in the Goodlow family. The fourteen bodies were buried in two graves, so small were the fragments found. Among the dead were five small children of Smithson. Their bodies were found close around that of an elder person, presumably their mother.

The cabins were situated near each other and in a heavy pine forest, which caught fire from all sides, hemming in the unfortunate victims and cutting off all means of escape.

Smithson came from Iowa, on the recommendation of his friend, Goodlow, who reported that the prospects in the timber trade were good. His family consisted of himself, father, wife and five children. Goodlow's family consisted of himself, a brother and four children.

MUCH DEPENDS ON BATTLE.

Critical Point Reached in the South African War.

BOER PLANS ARE NOT CLEAR.

Report of Gen. Symon's Death from Joubert Reveals That the British Wounded at Glencoe Are Prisoners—All News Is Held Back.

London, Oct. 27.—The combined British forces under White and Yule in the vicinity of Ladysmith have been strengthened somewhat by the arrival of valuable re-enforcements at Durban, as the distance is not great between the two towns, and the addition of nine guns and a battalion of rifles will more than repair the gaps caused by the battles of Glencoe, Elandslaagte and Riesfontein.

Besides this, two more transports have already passed the Canaries and are due at the Cape in ten days.

The total guns there now amount to forty-five, the last arrivals being rapid-firing ones equipped with Sir George Clark's patent on trial.

But even with these re-enforcements the White and Yule forces are not as secure as the war office would like, by any means.

The exact location of the combined Boer and Free State forces under Joubert is not known nor their real strength. The fact that Yule was not attacked on his march to Ladysmith is set down by the London papers as evidence that the Boers are not anxious for another battle, but a more likely deduction is that Joubert is concentrating and thoroughly organizing his two forces for a fresh and sweeping attack.

The belief is general that the biggest battle of the war to date, and perhaps the deciding one, is not far off.

The mystery of the Eighteenth hussars is finally cleared in the official report from Gen. White, and there is no doubt now that the hussars went too far in pursuit of the Boers after the battle of Glencoe, and were captured entire. The captured force numbers nine officers, with Col. Moller commanding, and from 160 to 250 men. Since the British have some 300 Boer captives, including several high officers, it is likely an exchange will be effected soon, and the hussars returned.

The other mystery, that of the peculiar military situation at Dundee on Saturday, is cleared up somewhat by the Daily Mail's Pietermaritzburg correspondent, who says on the day the Boers under Joubert established themselves on the hills overlooking the town and began a bombardment the residents were ordered to leave. He walked forty miles to the nearest town, arriving in a pitiable condition, having lost everything in his flight.

The Daily News' Cape Town dispatch says news from private sources received at Port Elizabeth states that a force sent out from Mafeking on Saturday inflicted another defeat on the Boers. The British are reported to have made a circuit around an advance party of the enemy, numbering 240, and driven them into Mafeking, where they are now prisoners.

The report that Plumer's force from Buluwayo met a body of Boers advancing toward Maklutsi, on the Limpopo, is confirmed by Boer accounts, which admit a loss of six killed. However, if the fight was anything like the others, it was probably more serious, as Plumer's force of 700 are all skilled riflemen and riders, and the Boer force was of equal size.

Later reports are expected to describe a hard-fought skirmish.

The completed figures of the British losses up to date are: Killed, 104; wounded, 513; missing, 6, and captured, 250.

Despite the secrecy maintained by the British military authorities in Natal, the arrival and dispatch of troops is known. The Boers are advised of every move immediately. The leak is charged to spies and the work of the Natal Dutch.

In consequence martial law is to be exercised more rigidly at Pietermaritzburg and Durban.

Irishmen, headed by the governor of Natal, have decided to present the Royal Irish and Dublin fusileers with an illuminated address in recognition of their gallant charge at Glencoe. This is construed as evidence of good faith in a quarter heretofore suspected.

An eye witness to the battle of Glencoe estimates the Boers engaged at from 7,000 to 10,000, of which 200 were killed. He says sixteen wagonloads of corpses of Boers were removed, and in many instances father and son fell side by side.

Decisive Battle to Be Fought.

London, Oct. 27.—The New York Journal correspondent cables: A battle which will decide the fate of Natal is about to be fought, and may even now be in progress. Gen. Sir George Stewart White, commander of the British forces at Ladysmith, has been reenforced by Gen. Yule with his 4,000 men from Glencoe and by several thousand more who came from Pietermaritzburg and from the Cape. His army numbers something over 15,000 men. He is ready to give battle, and he knows that he cannot afford to delay. To put off the fight will endanger the safety of his army. It would give the Free State burghers and the Transvaal Boers an opportunity to combine forces.

It is understood here that Gen. White will move out and attack the Free Staters at Besters stations as soon as the men of Gen. Yule's command have rested after their forced march from Dundee through the rain.

There is no denying the elation of the Boers at what they term the precipitous flight of the British from Dundee, leaving their commanding general, Sir William Penn Symons, to die a prisoner. This has given them confidence, and if they are permitted to join forces there is little doubt that they will soon make an attempt to capture Ladysmith.

McKinley Is Asked to Intervene.

Washington, Oct. 27.—The resolutions adopted at a mass meeting held in Carnegie hall, New York, Oct. 11, urging the president to offer the friendly services of the United States in mediation between Great Britain and the Transvaal and Orange Free State republics, were presented to the president Thursday. The president thanked the delegation for appearing and for the sentiments expressed in behalf of peace. Such sentiments had his sympathy, but in a case where so many diverse interests are involved moves must be made with great reserve, lest unwittingly injury be done some of the parties. The fact moreover must not be overlooked that America had interests at stake. The president reiterated that he was for peace and assured the delegation that the petition would receive his most earnest consideration.

German Force Almost Annihilated.

Durban, Natal, Oct. 28.—(Delayed in transmission.) — Ex-State Attorney Koster, the defender of Von Veltheim, the murderer of Woolf Joel, at one time the partner of the late Barney Barnato, was among the killed at Elandslaagte. It is said here that Col. Schiel's German force was almost annihilated at that battle.

Not Prisoner of the Boers.

Washington, Oct. 27.—The missing newspaper man, Eastman, who was supposed to have been captured by the Boers, has been traced by the state department and found to be all right. Consul Macrum, at Pretoria, reports that Easton is at the front with the Boer forces.

Troops Reach Cape Town.

Cape Town, Oct. 27.—The transport Zayathia, whose voyage from Liverpool was delayed by difficulties with her machinery, has arrived with a battery and a half of field artillery. Her sister transport, with an equal force, which has been similarly delayed, is daily expected.

Not Using Expanding Bullets.

London, Oct. 27.—Replying to John Dillon, Irish nationalist member for East Mayo, in the house of commons today, Mr. Wyndham declared that the British troops were not using expanding bullets and had no such bullets.

Cruiser Expects Orders.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 27.—It is announced on board the British cruiser Talbot, which is to sail Saturday for England, that immediately on her arrival at Portsmouth she would be dispatched to South Africa.

Chase After a Russian Ship.

Malta, Oct. 27.—The British battleship Anson, the cruiser Hawk and the destroyer Briser have sailed in chase of a Russian steamship carrying arms for the Boers, via the Suez canal.

Royal Irish Rifles Off for War.

Cork, Oct. 27.—The Royal Irish rifles, full 1,000 men, embarked on the troopship Britannic at Queenstown Thursday, bound for Durban, Natal.

PROSPERITY AND BALLOTS

The New York "Evening Post," frankly admitting the present prosperity of the country, falls to speculating upon the effect this prosperity will have on the ballot. It says: "An interesting question is raised by one of the conditions in the present campaign—the effect of national prosperity upon the way that voters cast their ballots. That the country is really prosperous even the Bryanites admit; they have at last abandoned the attempt which some of them made last year to argue that the appearances of good times were fallacious."

The "Post" finds that, as a rule, hard times are fatal to the party in power during the stress of panic, but also gives an instance in which prosperity did not prevent a political change. It points to the election of 1892, when in the midst of abounding prosperity, the voters defeated President Harrison and elected Mr. Cleveland.

That certainly was a phenomenal performance. But it may be accounted for on the theory that every generation must learn its own lesson by bitter experience. There was certainly no stopping the tendency to try the nostrums of the free-traders. They had deluged the country with their romances for years, and the country was finally persuaded to buy a gold brick. We do not believe that this generation will buy any more gold bricks, but will rather realize that the republican party is the source of present prosperity and continue that policy.

If Mr. Bryan were trying to wreck a business enterprise in the way he is trying to wreck national prosperity, he would be put under bonds, or be restrained in some other way quite as effective.—Rochester (N. Y.) "Democrat and Chronicle."

BIG TREASURY SURPLUS.

The Washington coarespondent of the Milwaukee Sentinel telegraphs the following:

"Although the United States is engaged in a costly campaign against the Philippine insurgents, the condition of public finances is such as to give the cabinet at its meeting today a reason to listen to some observations by Secretary Gage concerning the growing surplus in the treasury and the influence of the accumulating funds in the treasury upon the business interests of the country. One of the reasons for the surplus is low expenditures in the Philippines compared to what they were when the campaign of last spring was on, or what they will be when the fall operations begin. The war expenses of the past month are about half what they have been for some months this summer. The reduction in the volume of expenses with the continued inflow of receipts from all sources is believed by the officials of the treasury to be likely to cause a money stringency and the anticipation of interest payments was made in a measure to relieve such conditions.

There will be a surplus this month of perhaps $4,000,000. It is expected, however, that as soon as the campaign against the insurgents opens, when the volunteer treops have been landed on the island, the expenses on account of the War department will run up rapidly. The next quarter's draft upon the treasury by the War department for internal improvements will also swell the expenditures, and it is unlikely that measures for the relief of a crowded treasury will be necessary."

Evening Wisconsin—Friends of Judge Webb say that the mention of his name in connection with the republican gubernatorial combination has been made without his authority, and that as the judge is not eligible under the constitution, and is a stickler for judicial etiquette, the movement, if pushed, would hurt his feelings. The Wausau Record, which has always been friendly to Judge Webb, publishes an editorial discouraging the use of his name in this connection. It may be safely considered a finality, therefore, that Judge Webb is not in the race.

Manitowoc Times—Germans are in the habit of weighing all things carefully and casting their vote on the right side of things. Any conclusion that the German-American vote is opposed to McKinley is the result of hope in the minds of would-be agitators. Sound money and good times are of too great importance to all the people to leave the shadow of doubt as to where the German-Americans will go in 1900.

Congressman J. W. Babcock will not be a candidate for governor. In an interview with a Milwaukee reporter he said: "You can say that I am not and shall not be a candidate for governor, and that I have no intentions along that line whatsoever."

CROCHETED MATS.

A Set of Three or Five Very Pretty For the Table or Dresser.

The Designer gives these instructions for the mat illustrated: Materials, No. 35 linen thread and a coarse steel hook.

The stitch employed is called half double, made by throwing thread over the hook, taking up a stitch beneath, then drawing thread through the three stitches on the hook.

Begin in the center with a chain of eight stitches joined.

First row, 3 ch, 2 d c in the sl st, then 3 d c in each of the next 7 st, making 24 d c in the row; join the last d c to the 3 ch by a sl st.

Second row, 3 ch, 1 d c in the sl st, d c in next 2 d c, 2 d c in the next (3 ch, 2 d c in next d c, d c in next 2 d c, 2 d c in next), 5 times; join by sl st to the 3 ch.

Third row, 2 ch to take the place of a half double, h d in the sl st, h d in each of the next 4 d c, 2 h d in the next (3 ch, 2 h d in next d c, 4 h d, 2 h d in next), 5 times; join to 2 ch.

The following rows are a repetition of the third, the number of half doubles in each row being increased by placing two in the stitch each side of the three chain. In working take up both stitches at the top of the doubles. There are 20 rows in the mat to the border. The open squares in each section are made by placing one chain between the doubles and skipping one stitch beneath. The square begins with the eighth row, and the stitches must be counted from each side of the section, so as to get it in the center.

First row of border, 6 ch fastened by a sl st in every fourth st beneath, having a sl st in every 3 ch.

Second row, 6 ch fastened by a sl st in every 6 ch of first row.

Third row, 6 h d in each 6 ch, with a sl st in the sl st between.

Fourth row, 6 ch fastened in the center of each shell beneath.

Fifth row, 7 ch fastened in each 6 ch.

Sixth row, 7 h d in each 7 ch with a sl st between.

A larger mat is made in the same manner as this one, with more rows, and each section has four open squares. This larger mat has 30 rows to the border and is 11 inches in diameter. Narrow ribbon is run through the open spaces between the sections.

Three of these mats, the large one and two of the smaller size, make a pretty dresser set. If they are to be used as a table set, make the large one, two of the smaller ones and two still smaller.

The Care of Cut Glass.

Cut glassware is both valuable and beautiful and should be carefully treated when cleaned. It should, in the first place, be washed in warm water to which have been added a few drops of that invaluable cleansing agent, ammonia. Having thoroughly rinsed them, brush each piece separately with a soft brush dipped in whiting, and then, when the white powder is washed off, polish the glasses, which should drain for a minute or two, with tissue paper, which puts on a splendid gloss.

Corn Chowder.

Fry in butter or pork fat, in a deep kettle, two sliced onions. When tender, add eight potatoes, sliced thin. Season well with pepper and salt, cover with hot water, cook a few minutes, then add sweet corn, cut and scraped from eight good sized ears, adding more water, and boil half an hour. Now add a quart of boiling milk and two tablespoonfuls of butter rubbed smooth with a tablespoonful of flour. Add further seasoning and allow the chowder to boil up twice.

Two Uses of Salt.

Marble often tries the housewife's patience by its readiness to accumulate soil. It may be rapidly and easily cleaned, however, by the liberal application of common dry salt. This requires no preparation and is speedily effectual. Another form in which salt is used is in combination with vaseline, to cleanse hands that have become grimy through housework. Rub the mixture well into the hands and then wash thoroughly with ordinary soap.

FOUR MILLION FOR A YACHT.

Huge Fortunes Sunk in Building Sumptuous Pleasure Craft.

The new steam yacht Victoria and Albert, which has been built for the queen at Tenby, will be on completion the handsomest and fastest yacht any British sovereign has possessed. It will rank only second to the emperor of Russia's wonderful yacht, the Polar Star, which is said to have cost close upon £1,000,000. Nothing more lavishly elaborate than the fitting and decoration of the Polar Star could easily be imagined. Money has been drilled into her frame in hundredweights. The decorations of the dining saloon, which will seat 150 guests, cost approximately $100,000. Exquisite paintings by some of the most celebrated artists adorn the saloons and cabins and all the woodwork is elaborately carved. There is a fine library and music-room aboard and a beautiful white marble fountain, while some of the ornaments are of the rarest. The Standart, the czar's smaller steam-yacht of 4,300 tons, is much more frequently used than the Polar Star. She costs slightly over $2,600,000. This is only about half the price of the Polar Star, but the Standart is one of the most sumptuous yachts afloat. There is accommodation aboard for a crew of 300, twenty officers and eighty passengers. There are three magnificent suites of apartments devoted to the use of the emperor, empress and dowager empress, a fine library, a billiard-room and a music saloon. The dining saloon is paneled in tulipwood; the door handles, finger plates and the lamp fittings are of heavily carved solid silver. There is a fine marble bathroom, with heavy silver fittings, and the walls and doors of the principal cabin are elaborately inlaid with ivory and mother-of-pearl. So many improvements and additions have been made to her appointments since she was first completed that she is now worth probably half as much again as she originally cost. The German emperor's famous steam yacht, the Hohenzollern, of nearly 4,000 tons, was, considering her beauty and purpose, a comparatively inexpensive vessel, costing considerably less than $1,000,000. She has a very beautiful interior and splendid accommodation for crew and passengers alike, and is considered one of the fastest, smoothest-going yachts afloat.

The reception this year will be tendered to the members of the association by Manager King of the Plankinton house. It will be held Wednesday evening, and as it will be wholly informal, it will doubtless be one of the most interesting features of the week. The lecture will be given on Thursday evening by Dr. Arnold Tompkins, whose subject will be announced later. The headquarters of the association will be at the Plankinton house.

Work of W. C. T. U. Committee.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 27.—Although the National Woman's Christian Temperance union convention, which has been in progress in this city for the last week, ended according to programme with the close of Wednesday night's session, there was still enough work to be done by the executive board to make its meeting room a very busy place during the earlier part of yesterday. The selection of a place of meeting for 1900 was considered, and it was concluded to defer making a decision for a few days.

EDWIN HALVERSON DIES AT EL PASO

CONSUMPTION CAUSE OF HIS DEMISE.

Left Janesville Last Month for His Health—Was a Popular Young Man and a Medical Student—Remains Will Be Brought to This City and Buried in Oak Hill.

Edwin Halverson, eldest son of Martin Halverson, 58 Cherry street, died yesterday afternoon at El Paso, Texas. The cause of his demise was consumption, of which disease he had been afflicted for several weeks A telegram received in the city this morning conveyed the news of his death.

Edwin Halverson was twenty-three years of age and was the kind of a boy that everyone admired. His gentlemanly ways and kind heartedness made for him friends without number. He was always the same, having a kind word for all and speaking ill of no one.

He graduated from the Janesville High school with the class of '95. Three years ago he decided that medicine was his chosen profession through life and leaving Janesville he went to Chicago where he entered the Northwestern University Medical school where he intended to take a four years course.

When the American Spanish war broke out he volunteered his services and was sent south as a member of a hospital corps found in Chicago. After completing three years of his study at the Northwestern school he returned to Janesville on account of poor health. Fully realizing that his illness was of a serious nature he left last month for Albuquerque, New Mexico, in company with his eighteen year old brother, Oscar. Last Tuesday they left Albuquerque for El Paso, on account of the coange in the latitude. On reaching El Paso his condition took a sudden term turn for the worse. A father, and sister are left.

The remains will be brought to this city for burial in Oak Hill cemetery.

KEETER ARRESTED ON BURGLARY CHARGE

WATCH FURNISHES POLICE THE WANTED CLUE.

Edgerton Officers Say That the Janesville Boy Should Know Something About Burglaries That Took Place in That Town Last July—Denies the Charge.

Herman Keeter was arrested this morning ot his South High street home by Sheriff Appleby and Chief Hogan on the charge of burglary.

Edgerton officers say that the Janesville boy knows more than he is willing to tell about several burglaries that were committed in Edgerton last July.

Keeter denies the charge and says that the watch that he is accused of stealing was sold to him by a stranger in this city on West Milwaukee street. Marshal Welch af Edgerton has kept a sharp lookout since the robberies but was not rewarded with a clue till a few days ago when a well known Edgerton resident walked into an Edgerton jewelry store and presented a watch for repairs.

The jeweler at once recognized the timepiece as being stolen property and he lost no time in notifying the police. The Edgerton man then said that the watch was sold to him by Herman Keeter of Janesville.

When the officers went to arrest Keeter this morning they found him still in bed.

Keeter at the time of the robberies was camping with friends near Indian Ford.

He is a young man who bears a good name in Janesville and his many local friends claim that he will have no trouble in clearing himself of the present difficulty.

An Outgrown Ideal.

There have been some salutary changes during the long reign of Queen Victoria, one of which is casually treated by a London journal. Remarking that fainting was quite the fashion among women when her majesty came to the British throne, it says: "It was proper for an engaged young lady to swoon away if she received a letter containing the news of her lover having sprained his leg. The queen was thought too insensible because her voice did not falter when she announced to the house of commons her engagement to Prince Albert. Consumptive heroines were best liked by novel readers. Girls took a pride in being in poor health. They used to talk of their ailments as they now talk of the bike and golf."

Shortest and Most Profitable.

The shortest railroad in the world, the straightest and the most profitable, is the Marine railway at Coney island, connecting Brighton beach with Manhattan beach. Its length is half a mile. Capital stock, $25,000. Number of shares ($50), 500. When Austin Corbin, Jr., was 9 years of age his father presented to him 499 shares. In 1884, when the fare was 10 cents, the income was $86,000, and at the present time, at reduced rates, it still is very large.

"Ach!" exclaimad the eminent military authority, in excellent German—with the aid of an interpreter his succeeding remarks are translated into English—"why don't the stupid Samoans kill one or two of our missionaries? By the kaiser's helmet, we would annex the whole archipelago then!"—Chicago Tribune.

SHERIFF APPLEBY SUES JACOB LIENOW

ALLEGES HE SOLD SAME HAY TOO MANY TIMES.

Case Was Called Yesterday, and Involves One Hundred Dollars—Defendant Resides in the Town of Porter—Stoughton Attorneys Interested—Adjourned Three Weeks.

Sheriff W. H. Appleby has brought suit against Jacob Lienow, of the town of Porter, in order to reveal if possible what legal right Mr. Lienow possesses in order to dispose of his hay to other parties after once having sold it to the plaintiff. Damages to the amount of $100 are asked.

When the case was called before Judge Fifield of the municipal court an adjournment was taken for three weeks. Stoughton attorneys appeared for the defendant and Attorney W. G. Wheeler for the plaintiff.

Last spring it is alleged that Sheriff Appleby levied on property on the John Lienow farm in the town of Porter to satisfy an execution held by Isaac F. Connors of this city. A portion of this levied property was many tons of hay the value of which was a goodly sum. Mr. Connors then sold the hay to Sheriff Appleby who then in turn made preparations to dispose of it to local residents.

When these intended purchasers went to the Lienow farm to see the hay they allege that no hay was there except two tons and that Joseph Lienow, a son, had sold it to other parties. John Lienow recently died in this city at his North Main street home.

MICROBES EXIST IN BROOMS.

Household Implement a Breeding Place for Bacteria.

"The broom ordinarily is a fertile breeding place for bacteria, and should merit the interest and earnest consideration, not only of all good housewives, but of everyone who is interested in the health of the family, and the maintenance of the strictest hygienic and sanitary conditions. It is not generally known that the ordinary broom is the habitation or breeding place of great colonies of bacteria and unsanitary germs. La grippe, smallpox and scarlet fever have been traced directly to this household article—the ordinary broom." It is an interesting coincidence that almost simultaneously with this article a Georgia inventor announces that he has invented a sanitary broom. This broom is furnished with what its inventor calls a "retainer," which contains antiseptics. The retainer is incorporated in the part of the broom nearest the handle and is shaped somewhat like an incandescent light bulb; it is concealed by the broom straws and is held in place by transverse rows of stitching. The penetration of the retainer opens up numerous small outlets, which, acting together with the meshes, allow a gradual exudation of the antiseptic influence in their descent along and dissemination through the straws, insuring by the acts of sweeping the thorough disinfection of carpets, and a perfect deodorizer of apartments.—Scientific Amr

CABLE TO MANILA PLANNED.

Would Connect All American Possessions in the Pacific.

ESTIMATED COST, $8,500,000.

Proposed Lines Would Cross No Other Territory Than That of the United States—Gen. Young's Command Has Started for Santa Rosa.

Washington, Oct. 27.—It is understood from official and diplomatic sources that this government, as well as other governments interested, are seriously considering the question of a Pacific cable connecting this country with the Philippines and intermediate points. The project contemplates a cable of four links, which with their distances are as follows: From San Francisco to Hawaii, 2,120 miles; from Hawaii to Wake island, 2,044 miles; from Wake island to Guam, 1,293 miles; from Guam to Manila, 1,350 miles. Thus all the American possessions in the Pacific would be connected by a cable crossing no other territory than that of the United States. The estimated cost is about $8,500,000.

The war department is soon to begin the work of bringing home the soldiers who died from diseases or who were killed in action in the Philippines. The president promised at the beginning of the war with Spain that all soldiers killed in foreign territory should be brought home to the United States for burial. D. H. Rhodes of the quartermaster's department has been sent to Manila to take charge of the work.

One of Lowe's scouts and two privates of the signal corps are missing. It is supposed they have been captured.

This morning at daybreak Gen. Young's command, consisting of Gastner's scouts, a contingent of the Twenty-second regiment, Chase's troops of the Third cavalry, nine troops of the Fourth cavalry, a body of engineers, and Russell's signal corps, with rations for seven days, left in the direction of Santa Rosa.

Strikes Dummy Shareholders.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—The Supreme court's decision that stock subscriptions named in articles of incorporation must be bona fide is dividing interest with the glucose case in local legal circles. In affirming a judgment of the Appellate court, rendered in February, 1899, the Supreme court holds that unless directors of a stock company see that all shares set forth in the state charter have been subscribed in good faith, they may be held personally liable, jointly and severally, for the debts of the corporation contracted for by them. The decision is a broad construction of section 18 of the corporation act.

Must Re-Stamp Mortgages.

Keokuk, Iowa, Oct. 27.—In the United States District court Judge Woolson rendered a decision on the construction of the war revenue act that will affect nearly all mortgages executed since the act went into effect or that have changed hands. The decision was rendered in the case of the Bank of Orion, Kan., against Jamison. The claim was made that the mortgage in question should be stamped at every change of ownership, whereas it carries only the first stamp, put on at the time it was executed. The court sustained this view.

NATURAL TRAP.

Death Gulch Captures or Asphyxiates Many Wild Animals.

Death gulch is a small and gloomy ravine in the northeast corner of the Yellowstone national park, says Appleton's Monthly. "In this region the lavas which fill the ancient basin of the park rest upon the flanks of mountains formed of fragmentary volcanic ejecta, . . . while the hydrothermal forces of the central portion of the park show but feeble manifestation of their energy in the almost extinct hot spring areas of Soda Butte, Lamar river, Cache creek and Miller creek." Although hot water no longer flows from these vents, "gaseous emanations are now given off in considerable volume." "On Cache creek, about two miles above its confluence with Lamar river, are deposits of altered and crystalline travertine, with pools in the creek violently effervescing locally. This is due to the copious emission of gas. Above these deposits the creek cuts into a bank of sulphur and gravel cemented by this material, and a few yards beyond is the debouchure of a small lateral gully coming down from the mountain side. In its bottom is a small stream of clear and cold water, sour with sulphuric acid, and flowing down a narrow and steep channel cut in beds of dark gray volcanic tuff. Ascending this gulch the sides, closing together, become very steep slopes of white, decomposing rock. . . . The only springs now flowing are small oozes of water issuing from the base of these slopes or from the channel bed, forming a thick, creamy, white deposit about the vents and covering the stream bed. This deposit consists largely of sulphate of arumina. . . . About 150 feet above the main stream these oozing springs of acid water cease, but the channel of the gulch remains the same. The odor of sulphur now becomes stronger, though producing no other effect than a slight irritation of the lungs. Climbing through this trough, a frightfully weird and dismal place, and occupied by only a tiny streamlet and an appalling odor, we at length discovered some brown furry masses lying scattered about the floor of the ravine about a quarter of a mile from the point where we left Cache creek. Approaching cautiously, it became quickly evident that we had before us a large group of huge, recumbent bears. The one nearest to us was lying with his nose between his paws, facing us, and so exactly like a huge dog asleep that it did not seem possible that it was the sleep of death. To make sure, I threw a pebble at the animal, striking him on the flank. The distended skin resounded like a drum head, and the only response was a belch of poisonous gas that almost overwhelmed us. Closer examination showed that the animal was a young silver tip grizzly (Ursus horribilis). A few drops of dark red blood stained his nostrils and the ground beneath. There proved to be five other carcasses, all bears, in various stages of decay; careful search revealed oval areas of hair and bones that represented two other bears, making a total of eight carcasses in all.

PRESERVING AFRICAN BIG GAME

British Government Will Protect the Fauna of Africa.

With reference to the international action which the government has in view for the preservation of the big fauna of Africa, I have had the opportunity of hearing the opinion of one of the greatest living authorities on the subject. This individual has passed the greater part of his life in the districts of Africa affected by the legislation in force and prospective for prohibiting the killing of big game. He assures me that all the laws in operation fail to achieve the purpose in view in the localities where the natives are allowed to carry guns. In British East Africa, where the whites are strictly forbidden to shoot big game without authority, the natives are allowed to kill indiscriminately and without check everything they come across. In Mashonaland and Matabeleland, on the other hand, since the disarmament of the natives there has been a perceptible increase in certain species, and this increase is likely to gradually become more marked as time goes on and the regulations are enforced. Antelope of different kinds have lately been seen in the neighborhood of Buluwayo, which it had been thought had completely disappeared from the country, and there is reason to believe that in Rhodesia the danger of extinction of many of the species, which at one time was real, had been checked if not altogether averted.—Birmingham Post.

CLIMATE SHOWS FEW CHANGES

Weather Conditions Now About the Same as in Ages Past.

From Popular Science: This subject is of extreme interest and merits a most thorough study. We find the "early" and the "latter" rain today in Palestine precisely as described 3,500 years ago. "Jordan overflows all its banks" in February today exactly as it did in Joshua's time, thirty-three centuries ago. Plants taken from mummy cases in Egypt, which must have been gathered more than 5,000 years since, are practically of the same size and have the same appearance as those growing today. Records of vintages in France over 700 years ago show practically the same dates as today. Actual observations of rainfall for over 200 years in France show no change. Observations of temperature for almost 200 years at St. Petersburg show no change appreciable to us, though, of course, the earliest observations were extremely crude and somewhat unreliable. Facts of this kind might be adduced to fill a small volume. On the other hand, we have records of most extraordinary cold weather in ancient time. One winter light wine in France froze. Another winter the River Po froze over so as to bear teams, an unheard-of phenomenon today. In this journal for June it is stated that "Parnassus and Socrate, now free from snow, were covered with it in classic antiquity. Also "the name Greenland, which strikes us as so singularly inappropriate, was not inapplicable at the time it was named, in the fourteenth century." It is entirely probable that descriptions of the cold in ancient times were much exaggerated. Parnassus and Socrate have snow at times, and; in earlier days, when protection against the cold and snow was much less than now, a little snow would go a long way. The earlier voyagers from Iceland, more than a thousand years ago, leaving a land of almost perpetual ice and snow, and reaching a land in summer with its beautiful green color to their unaccustomed eyes, would very naturally give the name of Greenland to it. At the summer time it is said that Greenland presents a most beautiful green near the Danish settlements to this day. Our oldest inhabitants, who have been wont to describe the terrible cold and deep snows of their boyhood days as incomparably greater than anything which does or can occur today, have completely lost their reckoning the last winter when reading of a ship that had sunk in New York harbor by the weight of the ice upon it; also that Washington had had thirty-four inches of snow on a level and the lowest temperature ever noted in that fair city. I am sure a careful study will show no appreciable change in the climate of this earth since the early historic times. Of course nothing here adduced touches climatic changes in glacial times or in prehistoric times, which changes have been established beyond question.

WOMEN WHO YACHT.

BY ETHEL DE VERE.

Yachtswomen are taking their place naturally and gracefully alongside yachtsmen as patrons and promoters of yachting, both steam and sail. Year by year this fascinating diversion is growing in popularity among women, and the number of those who own and sail their own yachts is ever increasing.

While there are hundreds of women who are good sailors and know as well as their husbands or brothers or anybody else's brother how to manage steam yachts in all sorts of sea weather, there are yet comparatively few who have fully qualified as expert skippers of sailing yachts, but the number is constantly being augmented.

During the past season the sailing of small craft was quite the fad among the women at some of the seaside resorts, particularly at Newport, and the sport developed a number of excellent sailors, among them being Mrs. William Butler Duncan of New York, who helped to sail the Esperanza through heavy sea and terrific gale to victory in a cup race off Newport.

Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin, wife of the managing owner of the Columbia, possesses remarkable skill in yacht sailing and has usually accompanied her husband on the trial trips of the Defender and the Columbia. Her knowledge of yachting is said to be more extensive and accurate than that of any other yachtswoman who sails the salt sea and sufficient to enable her to navigate a boat alone were she so inclined.

One of the most notable of women navigators is Miss Susan De Forest Day, who might exclaim with Heine, "I love the sea as my own soul!" A very considerable portion of her time is spent aboard her magnificent steam yacht, the Scythian, in ocean voyages. The yacht was once a tramp steamer. Reconstructed under her personal direction, it is now a veritable floating palace.

Miss Day is one of the pioneer yachtswomen of America and has cruised more widely than any other American woman, having sailed in most of the navigable waters on both hemispheres, being on all these trips the master of her ship and directing its course. She recently returned from an extended cruise along the coast of Labrador.

"Captain" Day, as she is called aboard the Scythian, is a splendid sailor and as trim a little skipper as ever walked a deck or called out orders to a crew of rugged sailor boys. She has a quaintly authoritative manner, coupled with a frank and pleasing smile that sends all the Scythian crew to the execution of her orders without waste of time. Aboard ship she is brave. The roughest sea has no terrors for her, for she knows neither timidity nor seasickness.

On shore Miss Day is quite another being. When the anchor drops, the bravado drops. "Captain" Day is a matter of fact master of men and machinery, rigging and charts. "Miss" Day is a modest, timid young woman. She shrinks from the public gaze and grows pale at sight of a reporter.

Miss Day is a native of New York. Her father was Henry Day of the legal firm of Lord, Day & Lord, and her mother was a sister of Daniel Lord of the same firm, both families being prominent in the society of the eastern metropolis and possessed of abundant wealth. Miss Day's first ocean cruise was made upon the advice of her physician as a relief from nervous prostration resulting from the death of her mother and a serious accident to her brother which occurred about the same time. The sea restored her health and afforded for her such a fascination that now, after nearly five years, much of the time spent on shipboard, she declares: "I have a lovely home on the water. Somehow I do not like to live on land any more."

Shortly after her return from her first ocean voyage Miss Day bought, at a comparatively small figure, the stanch tramp ship Scythia, which she remodeled and beautified to suit her taste and fancy, making of it one of the largest and most beautiful yachts afloat. It is likewise one of the coziest and most comfortable homes that can be imagined. The feminine fact for convenience and order is everywhere apparent in the ship, whose stability has been tested in many rough waters. Whether adding an unnumbered house to a Venetian street or anchored off the Yildiz kiosk, this craft is always home. It is built of thick steel and can ride in the worst storm that ever blew.

Mrs. George Gould is among the most prominent of American yachtswomen. She always accompanies her husband on his trips on their steam yacht, the Atalanta. She looks her handsomest in a snug fitting yachting costume and is an excellent sailor. The Goulds' yacht is beautifully furnished and well adapted for entertaining.

In England, where the Goulds have been on their yacht several times and where they were, with the Vigilant, once contestants for international cups, almost all the yachting notables have entertained or been entertained by them, not excepting the Prince of Wales, who has expressed his admiration for the smartness with which Mrs. Gould is always gowned.

Mrs. Howard Gould, who, with her husband, has been on their yacht, the Niagara, cruising in foreign waters, where they have entertained emperors and princes, is also a fine yachtswoman. During their voyage the emperor of Germany, himself an enthusiastic yachtsman, paid them a visit from the Hohenzollern, his own vessel, and greatly admired the beauty of the Niagara, which was built in accordance with many suggestions of Mrs. Gould when she was still Miss Katherine Clemmons.

One of the first American women to own and sail her own yacht was Mrs. Lucy Carnegie, widow of Thomas Carnegie, brother of Andrew Carnegie. When he died, about ten years ago, Mr. Thomas Carnegie left his widow about $10,000,000. The family lives during a part of the year in a handsome residence in the suburbs of Pittsburg, but the greater part of the time is spent at Dungeness, the Carnegies' country place on Cumberland island, in Fernandina bay, off the coast of Florida. Here her yacht always lies ready for use while the family is in the south. Sometimes for months Mrs. Carnegie cruises about American or foreign waters, her only companions being her daughters, the two younger of whom are unmarried and quite as fond of yachting as their mother.

The ladies of Commodore Gerry's family and those of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan's enjoy the time that the heads of the family elect shall be spent on board their yachts. Mr. Morgan is president of the New York Yacht club. His yacht is the Corsair. His daughter, Miss Louise Morgan, is particularly interested in yachting.

Mrs. John Jacob Astor is skilled in all sorts of fashionable sport, and her acquirements as a yachtswoman are quite equal to any. The Astors' yacht, the Nourmahal, is one of the most palatial of pleasure craft, and Mrs. Astor knows just how it should be managed.

But the list might be extended almost indefinitely. These, however, sufficiently indicate the interest being taken in this fascinating sport by American women who can afford to possess yachts propelled either by steam or moved by ocean breezes.

English women have long been enthusiastic yachtswomen, their love of the sea being a national trait. Among those whose names appear most prominently are Lady Fitzgerald, the beautiful wife of the knight of Kerry, whose yacht Satanita has won many races in English and Mediterranean waters; Miss Irene Hobert, who takes great interest in yacht racing in the Solent and who usually has a boat in the Castle and Hythe Yacht club regattas, and Mrs. Wyllie, wife of the celebrated painter, who, with her husband, spends much time on his floating studio, the four Brothers, and who is regarded as one of the most expert yachtswomen in England in handling light sailing craft.

A new trimming for yokes, revers, panels, etc., is diamond velours. It is so arranged or made as to have raised diamond shaped figures, and in some way the cunning manufacturer has been able to give it a dozen shades, while it is really all one. It is very striking and rich.

Iowa Assessment System Is Wrong.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 27.—The Supreme court Thursday handed down a decision which completely knocks out the present system of assessing and taxing insurance, express, telegraph, telephone, sleeping car and fast freight companies. The law provides they shall pay certain percentages of gross receipts to the state treasury. The court holds that corporations must be assessed on the same basis and for the same purposes as individuals. A corporation paying its entire taxes to the state does not help support city, county and schools as individuals do, hence the law is unconstitutional.

Telegraphic Discovery.

A Vienna engineer named Pollak has made a discovery which seems to have solved the question of the rapid transmission of telegraphic messages. By a process only requiring the use of a simple apparatus Mr. Pollak is able on the same telegraphic line to wire 60,000 words an hour. The details of this remarkable invention have been bought up by a stock company, which states that up to the present they have met with great success.

Fined for Wearing Military Uniform.

A German actress has been fined in Vienna for wearing a correct military uniform, which is not allowed by the Austrian authorities. In Germany, however, she would have been punished if the uniform had not been correct, the emperor's decree permitting military dress on the stage only when absolutely accurate.

Pythian Laws Are Violated.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 27.—The judiciary committee of the grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, in session here, has decided that nearly every act of the grand lodge at its last session is unconstitutional and not according to Pythian law, except the election of officers and an amendment that the lodge as a body passed on.

Re-enforcements Not Going to Guam.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Secretary Long was asked about the story that re-enforcements were to be sent to Guam. He said that there was no need for any re-enforcements there and that the story probably originated in the fact that the navy department is about to send an additional battalion of marines to the Philippines.

Yes, they're different from anything ever sold in this market. Better, too--a whole lot better.

The second cost of a cast iron cooking, apparatus is often many times its first cost.
